EASEWE: Improving migrant women self-employment in the creative sector

EASEWE is a recently concluded Erasmus + project about entrepreneurial education for creative self-employment of women. The project's main objective was to help migrant women to develop their entrepreneurial skills and start their own business in the creative arts sector.

The partnership, coordinated by Net in Action, counted on the expertise of 6 partners from 6 countries (Italy, Cyprus, Sweden, Spain, Slovenia, Hungary) representing both the business, culture and education sectors.

The participants' achievement and the project's outstanding results have been highlighted during the final event, particularly a training course for women with migrant backgrounds who wish to overcome their employment obstacles through self-employment. The 12 modules of the training courses make use of the blended learning approach to provide basic skills in the digital, entrepreneurial and creative market fields. Besides improving their digital and entrepreneurial competences, participants felt empowered to become effective players in the labor market and inspired to develop their own business projects. This is why we like to think about this initiative as one of the multiple starting points for a journey towards emancipation and empowerment!

Where everything started...!

Bologna is the place where ELA training courses first took root. With an annual offer of over 70 training courses, educators from all over Europe can enhance their professional skills while discovering the true Italian essence in a city that still veers away from the typical tourist paths.

Visiting Bologna means delving in a rich mosaic of culture and history. Its stunning medieval architecture has preserved the historic center almost unchanged throughout the years. Admiring the iconic Piazza Maggiore, enjoying the panoramic view from the Two Towers, walking through the narrow streets of the old town, stopping by the traditional artisan shops, will just make you step back in time! Renowned for its ancient university, Bologna embodies diversity and inclusivity, creating a welcoming atmosphere for all.

What's more, Bologna's strategic location makes it an ideal starting point for 1-day trips to captivating destinations such as Florence and Venice. Emilia-Romagna, the surrounding region, is then renowned for its gastronomic delights but also its artistic and historical treasures.

What are you waiting for? Choose Bologna as the destination for your next Erasmus Training Course, and you'll not only enhance your professional skills but also be embraced by a city that intertwines history, culture, and culinary excellence.

Course of the week: "Teaching entrepreneurship and leadership"

Teaching entrepreneurship and leadership at school is an innovative and dynamic course designed to equip participants with the skills and knowledge needed to prepare their learners for the rapidly changing job market and world of entrepreneurship.

The course covers a range of topics, including idea generation, creative thinking, teamwork and leadership skills development. The aim of each daily session will be to offer concrete tools, simulation activities and interactive projects to engage and motivate students to develop their entrepreneurship mindset, problem solving skills and leadership characters.

At the end of the course, participants will have gained valuable skills, didactic games and knowledge in entrepreneurship and leadership, as well as a deeper understanding of the business world and the opportunities available to them. They will be well-equipped to pursue their own entrepreneurial workshop in the classroom and shape effective leadership education in their classroom.
